since virtually all aspects of hawai i s cultural educational and social life have been affected by the foundation s century of grantmaking activity the contents of a century of philanthropy will be of interest to students of hawai i as well as to students of america s philanthropic history the author holds that philanthropic decisions are shaped in part by changing social and economic circumstances and that charitable foundations can and do play a unique and innovative role in society this approach affords insight into America’s singular culture of philanthropy. The foundation’s earliest grants in the 1890s featured educational innovation. In the 1910s and 1920s, its grants favored Americanization and Christianization for Hawaii’s heterogeneous population. In more recent decades, the foundation’s work has included large capital grants to cultural organizations in the 1970s and 1980s and a renewed emphasis on early education in the 1990s. Over the past one hundred years, the foundation has evolved from its origins as a special purpose trust for early childhood education and welfare. A Century of Philanthropy explores the reasons for the evolution and its effect on Hawaii’s history and welfare. The author sees foundations finally as agents of social change as well as social conservatism. The revised edition analyzes the development of the foundation in the 1990s and the early years of the twenty-first century. Special attention is paid to changing trends in national philanthropy and the foundation’s renewed vigor in support for and advocacy of early education and care in Hawaii.

This special report looks closely at how libraries acquire, deploy, and maintain their photocopiers. It reports on how much libraries spend to acquire photocopiers how much they spend on supplies and maintenance contracts which suppliers they choose and what their future plans are for photocopiers in the library. The study gives detailed data on library revenues from photocopiers and the range of photocopy and related services offered. The study helps librarians to answer questions such as what is the future of library photocopying how much revenue do photocopiers bring in what kind of supply purchases and maintenance contracts do peer libraries have and what do they cost which photocopier brands do they favor and why how many photocopies of what type are produced in the library what advice do librarians and others offer to their peers on photocopier management data is broken out separately for public academic and special libraries and by library size.
