division of abdo racism is a problem deeply rooted in american society slavery and segregation may no longer be legal but their legacies still influence the way black people and other people of color are treated today racism exists in the justice system politics and the media core library guide to racism in modern america introduces readers to some of the history of racism in the country how it affects people today and how some are working toward equal treatment for all people in challenging the one best system a team of leading education scholars offers a rich comparative analysis of the set of urban education governance reforms collectively known as the portfolio management model they investigate the degree to which this model a system of schools operating under different types of governance and with different degrees of autonomy challenges the standard structure of district governance famously characterized by david tyack as the one best system the authors examine the design and enactment of the portfolio management model in three major cities new orleans los angeles and denver they identify the five interlocking mechanisms at the core of the model planning and oversight choice autonomy human capital and school supports and show how these are implemented differently in each city using rich qualitative data from extensive interviews the authors trace the internal tensions and tradeoffs that characterize these systems and highlight the influence of historical and contextual factors as well most importantly they question whether the portfolio management model represents a fundamental restructuring of education governance or more incremental change and whether it points in the direction of meaningful improvement in school practices drawing on a rigorous multimethod study challenging the one best system represents a significant contribution to our understanding of system level change in education nursing practice in multiple sclerosis a core curriculum 2nd edition was written for nurses preparing to take the ms certification exam given under the auspices of the international organization of multiple sclerosis basis for the disease what drives a state s choice to assimilate accommodate or exclude ethnic groups within its territory in this innovative work on the international politics of nation building harris mylonas argues that a state s nation building policies toward non core groups individuals perceived as an ethnic group by the ruling elite of a state are influenced by both its foreign policy goals and its relations with the external patrons of these groups through a detailed study of the balkans mylonas shows that how a state treats a non core group within its own borders is determined largely by whether the state s foreign policy is revisionist or cleaves to the international status quo and whether it is allied or in rivalry with that group s external patrons mylonas injects international politics into the study of nation building building a bridge between international relations and the comparative politics of ethnicity and nationalism geoffrey harris what drives a state’s choice to assimilate accommodate or exclude ethnic groups within its territory in this innovative work on the international politics of nation building harris mylonas argues that a state’s nation building policies toward non core groups individuals perceived as an ethnic group by the ruling elite of a state are influenced by both its foreign policy goals and its relations with the external patrons of these groups through a detailed study of the balkans mylonas shows that how a state treats a non core group within its own borders is determined largely by whether the state’s foreign policy is revisionist or cleaves to the international status quo and whether it is allied or in rivalry with that group’s external patrons mylonas injects international politics into the study of nation building building a bridge between international relations and the comparative politics of ethnicity and nationalism
